

Abstract

Calls produced by males after winning a fight differs significantly from long distance mating calls.